Old Business

A) Reminder of Work Groups
-- Intrusive Work Group would like to report again to the committee this year; also Lynn Stichnote reported that there would probably be important information to share from Student Financial Aid once the federal government has adopted a budget.

New Business
Anna Gaw and Scott Miller reported on information from the NACADA Advising Assessment Institute and future plans to develop an assessment of the advising activities on campus. The preliminary timeline involves the formation of an Advising Assessment Team during the summer 2011, developing goals and outcomes and mapping the assessment of those outcomes in the Fall 2011, with the collection of the appropriate assessment data in the Spring 2012 semester, so that a report could be presented to the campus in Fall 2012. There was some discussion of the potential purchase of the u.direct package from RedLantern, and its impact on advising. There was also discussion of advisor resources.
